

The West's War Against the World

YASH TANDON

Tuesday 2 June 2015 - 16.00hrs

Everything, from land and water to health and human rights, is intimately linked to the issue of free trade. However, for a vast majority of people, free trade not only hinders development – it causes relentless waves of violence and impoverishment on their lives. How damaging is the mechanism of global businesses? What are possible alternatives? Is there still a real value of goods and services?

Yash Tandon, author of Trade is War, is Honorary Professor at Warwick and London Middlesex University.
